Graduate Reviews

Hillsong College set my life up for the greatest win! Being fully immersed in an environment where you are constantly being poured into, given countless opportunities to outwork your gifts and talents, and even corrected when you go a little too far off the deep end, helped shape me to be the woman and leader I am today.”
— Allison, USA | Worship Music Graduate

“One of the most meaningful things that Hillsong College modeled to me is the importance of discipleship. This was constantly reflected in the words and actions of every College and Church staff; always uplifting and encouraging.”
— Josh, Canada | Master of Arts Graduate

“The Bachelor of Theology course has stretched my faith, enlightened me on my Christian beliefs, and shed light on questions I’ve had throughout the years. It has equipped me to help others understand Christian faith and belief in a more effective way.”
— Stacey, Indonesia | Bachelor of Theology Graduate

“The Master of Arts course was probably one of the most challenging things I’ve ever signed up for. It taught me to value research, appreciate opposing views and where to find good answers. More than anything it humbled me to stay teachable by realising how much I didn’t know and I’m grateful for that.”
— Wesley, Brazil | Master of Arts Graduate

“The hands-on experience I had while I was in College was highly instrumental in helping me get where I am today in the Film & TV world. The best way to improve your craft is to do it over and over again and Hillsong College gives you plenty of opportunities to get those experiences which helps you grow and develop your God given talents.”
— Matt, USA | Film & TV Graduate

Graduate Reviews

“Having done three years of the Vocational Program and then studying the Bachelor of Theology course in depth was amazing. Learning more about God does not only lead to incredible revelations for myself but it helps me disciple people!”
— Joshua, Germany | Bachelor of Theology Graduate

“College is a watering hole for creativity, a house filled with creative minds and innovative ideas. I’ve had the privilege of working alongside so many incredible creators and leaders who consistently push and inspire me. I have not only gained practical skills such as editing and marketing strategies, but I have learned leadership – Godly, servant leadership.”
— Hayley, Australia | Pastoral Leadership Graduate

“Before coming to College, we had a fashion brand which was our focus, so we were designing our own apparel... we knew going to College would help us build a foundation in our Christian walk and we also felt it would give us inspiration even in our craft.”
— Susanna and Joanna, UK | Pastoral Leadership Graduates

“The best thing about Hillsong College Online is that you can study anywhere! I’ve done lectures on an airplane, in a hotel room, in my bedroom — you can even do them on your phone and that’s probably my favourite thing, how flexible the options are to study.”
— Jonathan ‘JD’ Douglass, Australia | Hillsong College Online

“Throughout this season at College, God has taken me on a journey of discovering my purpose and identity in Christ as the Aboriginal woman He created me to be. These years have been life defining, as I have grown in my understanding of God, His Word, and His people.”
— Mikenzie, Australia | Bachelor of Theology Graduate

(MINWMU401 Describe and apply a theology of Christian worship 40 hours)
Worship Ensemble	This subject is a practical extension of "The Worship Team" and "Principles of Worship" subjects to develop musicianship and leadership abilities. In this workshop students will actively participate alongside their fellow worship stream students to practically prepare, perform, and evaluate their worship practice within a contemporary worship music ensemble. (CUAMPF404 Perform music as part of a group 56 hours)

CERTIFICATE IV IN MINISTRY

Film & TV Stream Subjects

SUBJECT

OVERVIEW

Introduction to Film & TV Ministry

This subject introduces students to the role of Film & TV in ministry within the local church. It explores the power and possibilities of media for the communication of vision, facilitating worship, and building community in the life of the local church. It also investigates the use of film to communicate the Gospel in visually captivating and compelling ways to our society. (MINFTV401 Describe and contribute to effective film and television ministry | 16 hours)

Storyboard

Planning your film is the key to success and Storyboard is one of the main areas of pre-production that will set your film above others. Learn cinematic storytelling techniques that will set your story sailing. Use shot sizes, camera angles and camera movements to plan your film before ever arriving on set. Take your finished storyboard and turn it into an animatic so you can really get a feel for what you want to shoot. Learn to collaborate and develop your ideas with others while being able to use your storyboard to pitch your idea to clients. This subject will help you communicate your vision while receiving input from others in the film making process. (CUAPPM407 Create storyboards | 48 hours)

Cinematography 1 and 2

These subjects include operating cameras in a Film and Television environment. Students will have the opportunity to learn the basics of cinematography on Canon DSLR cameras while using industry-standard lighting and other video production equipment. Introductions into lighting, shot composition, and production management are also taught in this course. Furthermore, students will learn basic location audio recording skills required for capturing sound on a shoot. The culmination of learning these skills will give you a broad range of experience across the many departments within a Film & TV crew. (CUACAM301 Shoot material for screen productions | 48 hours)

Digital Editing 1 and 2

In our modern Mac Labs, you will learn how to edit a range of video content in Adobe Premiere Pro and After Effects. This subject has a strong practical focus and hands-on approach to learning the art of editing and is completed in weekly workshops with trainers who are actively working in the industry. (CUAPOS401 Edit screen content for fast turn around | 48 hours)

Screenwriting 1 and 2

Stories are the starting point and foundation for any film. This subject will teach you the basics of screenwriting and help you evaluate audiences, imagine ideas, develop characters, and draft stories that change lives. (CUAWRT302 Write simple stories | 32 hours)

Film & TV Stream

This course gives you an introduction to the basics of camera and video editing skills. You will be immersed into studio recording environments, gain hands-on experience in the world of cinematography, and be part of working production teams. You will also have the opportunity to be involved in a variety of Film & Television projects within Hillsong College and Hillsong Church, including the creation of content for our Hillsong Channel.

Production Stream Subjects

SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
Introduction to Production in Ministry	This subject introduces students into production as a ministry in the local church. It explores the role of the production team within the creative ministry and expression of the church. It seeks to cultivate a ministry philosophy that harnesses the power and possibilities of all dimensions of production, bringing them into the service of the gospel and the life-changing mission of the Church. (MINPRD401 Describe and contribute to effective technical production ministry 16 hours)
Audio Systems	During the audio systems subject students will be trained in industry standards for operating a variety of equipment and translating this into the live environment. Students will also become familiar with the bump in/out procedures, participation in technical rehearsals, workplace safety standards & procedures, 2-way communication systems, and various production roles within church services. Learning to interpret this knowledge and skills to the audio production requirements will ultimately lead to competency in operating audio equipment during a live event. (CUASOU301 Undertake live audio operations 40 hours)
Input Sources	This subject delivers the skills and knowledge required to select and manage appropriate microphones and input sources for given situations as well as the understanding of the signals these devices will create. We will go beyond the general knowledge and use of microphones and delve into what it takes to create and implement complex microphone plots. In addition to these we will look at alternate input sources available, such as DI's and replay equipment, how to create a concise and clear input patch list and follow this through to successful connection. (CUASOU402 Manage audio input sources 48 hours)
Live Audio	This subject delivers the skills and knowledge required to move from operating a console to mixing audio for a live performance. Skills in mixing audio are developed over an extended period of time. Students will be required to put what they have learned into practice, logging mandatory practice hours in a real environment. These opportunities will be made available through college life with opportunities in our youth services, college chapels and additional creative college workshops. (CUASOU401 Mix live audio 40 hours)
Stage Monitoring	This subject equips students with the skills and knowledge required to establish stage requirements for a range of venues and events whilst fulfilling technical requirements and satisfying the final delivery platforms. Students will learn how to set up and operate a stage foldback system as a dedicated console or via a FOH send. Stage equipment and specific issues are explored to lay a foundation for the management of engineering a monitor's mix and the problems that can arise within the stage foldback environment. (CUASOU502 Manage the operation of stage monitor systems 48 hours)

Production Stream

The Production Stream will equip you to function at a professional level in audio engineering and live mixing, with the ability to use your skills in both your local church and the broader production industry.

Diploma of Ministry

10670NAT CRICOS 096714E

Our Diploma program trains you with the skills you need to lead a ministry team and will take your leadership training to the next level. By building on what you learned in your first year, your understanding of the Bible and theology will continue to expand. You'll now start adding team and people leadership to your ministry skill-set, whilst continuing to grow in your area of ministry. This accredited course is part of our Vocational Education program that trains you with the skills needed for marketplace careers in the same field as your stream's ministry specialisation.

Diploma of Ministry

Course Structure

Entry Requirement: Completion of Certificate IV in Ministry or equivalent

Core Subjects: 240 hours

Stream Subjects: 240 hours

Practicum: 240 hours

Diploma: 720 hours

Duration: 12 Months

Everyone chooses a stream that further develops their expertise in their ministry of passion and calling. Practicum is where each student continues to grow by turning their classroom learning into real leadership skill through hands-on experience in an area of ministry in Hillsong Church.

Students will learn in a variety of settings including lecture-style classes, group-work, presentation, self-directed learning activities, workshops, tutorials and work-based training. Assessment methods include written assignments, reports and journals, oral and written presentations, ministry observation, performances, portfolios, tests, and workplace feedback.

Practicum

Get ready for a real step up in your practical ministry experience. In our Diploma program, you will feel opportunities and responsibilities increase, as you take on more key roles in the ministries you are involved in.

For Hillsong College Online, see note below.

Within the Diploma of Ministry program practicum, you will also get to tailor your practical ministry involvement by choosing the ministry area you want to focus on more specifically. As you do this, the level at which you get to be involved in ministry will rise, as you get to lead teams or provide leadership through your growing ministry expertise.

Our Diploma program enlarges your knowledge of biblical teaching and theology, while starting to develop your team and people leadership skills. It also allows you to further develop expertise in your chosen area of ministry. Put it all together and the Diploma program trains you with the necessary skills to lead a ministry team or exert leadership within a local church or Christian organisation, for example:

- Youth team leader
- Worship leader,
- Music or vocal director
- Leader in a kids or student team
- Team leader in a church video team
- Leading a discipleship group
- Leading a community outreach or social justice team
- Running church events
- Coaching young songwriters

The course also trains you with the required skills for marketplace careers in the same field as your chosen stream's ministry specialisation.

And like in Certificate IV, Practicum continues to be closely connected to your Core Subjects, so through your consistent involvement in leading and influencing others you will further develop the leadership skills these subjects are teaching.

If you are from a local church in the Sydney Metropolitan or Phoenix areas, you can continue to choose to do your Practicum in your home church.

All Hillsong College Online Campus student's Practicum serving will be outworked in their local home church.

Diploma of Ministry

Core Subjects

These subjects will further strengthen your understanding of the Bible and theology, while adding key leadership skills to your ministry toolkit, so you can start empowering others to make a difference.

CORE SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
New Testament Studies	An in-depth look at key books and genres in the New Testament, focusing on Paul's letter to the Romans and The Gospel of Luke. It will delve more deeply into the cultural and historical settings of both books and help students cultivate some early exegetical skills that can be applied to the close study of other books of the New Testament. It will also help students analyse how one might apply these texts to contemporary Christian life and ministry. (MINBIB501A Interpret and apply the Bible. 40 hours)
Old Testament Studies	An in-depth look at key texts in the Old Testament, focusing on Exodus and Psalms, analysing and interpreting major themes and applying them to a contemporary ministry. This subject builds upon the bible study skills developed in Certificate IV by developing some basic exegetical skills appropriate for reading Old Testament texts accurately. (MINBIB501A Interpret and apply the Bible. 40 hours)
Pastoral Care	This subject equips the student with the skills necessary to identify and effectively deal with pastoral care issues that arise in a ministry setting. These topics include identifying issues, effective consultation and referral, an overview of key pastoral issues, such as grief and loss, relational issues, and crisis care. Students are encouraged to think through the biblical and theological dimensions of caring for people so that they can grapple with many of the difficult issues that come up in pastoral ministry. (MINPST501 Interpret and apply pastoral theology in a ministry setting 32 hours)
Theology	This subject builds on the concepts and skills developed in Christian Doctrine in Certificate IV. It discusses and develops major theological concepts, seeing how they developed through church history, and explores the diversity of theological viewpoints across a range of Christian traditions. The strengths and weaknesses of different positions will be assessed, along with their implications for life and ministry in a modern-day church setting. (MINTHY501 Interpret and apply theological concepts 40 hours)
Team Leadership	The level of leadership responsibility and influence students are trained to carry increases significantly. In this subject, students will be equipped with a deeper understanding of leadership dynamics and diverse skills needed to lead and build teams in a ministry environment. It will help students build their capacity to recruit people into teams, build a great team atmosphere, manage teams to meet challenging ministry goals, and develop the people in their teams to fulfil their God-given potential. This subject will also be outworked in the practicum component of the course. (BSBMGT401 Show leadership in the workplace with MINLED505 Develop self and others as Christian leaders in an integrated fashion 30 hours)

Leading a Discipleship Ministry	Focusing on one of the essential foundations for church growth, this subject equips students to cultivate discipleship growth through a community made of one or several small groups. Specific skills covered include growing your own discipleship group, facilitating Bible study discussions, developing Bible study materials, and developing new leaders who can then start their own discipleship groups. (MINPST404 Lead and multiply a Christian small group 40 hours)
Safe Church	Focusing on one of the key responsibilities of modern ministry leaders, this subject equips students with the skills and information needed to assess and maintain safety in a ministry environment. (MINSAF501 Apply Safe Church policies and procedures 8 hours)

Pastoral Leadership Stream

This stream will expand and deepen your knowledge and skills across the entire spectrum of pastoral ministry roles. You will be trained to preach, develop ministries, think through critical issues for Christianity in the 21st century, and practically build people's lives, emerging as a well-rounded pastoral leader.

DIPLOMA OF MINISTRY

Pastoral Leadership Stream Subjects

SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
Preaching	Preaching is one of the most effective tools for communicating the gospel, teaching biblical truth and impacting lives. In this subject students are introduced to the theology, communication theory, and skills needed to construct and deliver powerful, life-changing sermons. Students will also have the opportunity to practice and be coached in new preaching skills. (MINPST503 Deliver a sermon 48 hours)
The Prison Epistles	This subject will take students deeper in the field of biblical studies as they develop additional skills to study the Prison Epistles. Students will be equipped to select the appropriate resources, tools and hermeneutical approaches most relevant to each book as well as draw contemporary and devotional applications that remain faithful to the biblical texts. (MINBIB503AA Study and apply a book of the Bible 40 hours)
Christian Ethics	This subject develops the skills needed to identify and address key ethical issues within contemporary society and to evaluate those issues within a Christian context. Topics include Christian and non-Christian world-views and ethical systems, and an overview of key ethical issues likely to arise in Christian ministry today including: abortion, IVF, wealth and poverty and workplace ethics. (MINTHY502 Analyse ethical issues in Christian context 48 hours)
Marriage and Family	This subject helps students develops a biblical basis for marriage and family, identifying relevant current issues encountered in various forms of relationships. Students will be equipped with the theology and ministry skills needed to help people in a Christian community build their marriages and families. It will also equip students personally, to build their own life-giving and exemplary marriage and family, while navigating the challenges of life and ministry. (MINPST502 Interpret and apply the theology of marriage and family 40 hours)
World Perspectives	As Christian leaders, we will often be required to speak and respond to the key issues facing global society today. This subject will equip students to research and think through current issues from a biblical perspective, especially those that have implications for justice and the kingdom of God. Topics include climate change, gender issues, current world conflicts, poverty, and globalisation. (MINPST505 Evaluate contemporary world affairs from a Christian perspective 32 hours)
Coaching Skills	Helping people reach their God-given potential and to perform in ministry at a high level is one of a Christian leader's most important tasks. In this subject, students will be introduced to the ideas and skills involved in life and executive coaching, learning and practising how to apply them to help others flourish in life and grow in ministry. (PSPGEN036 Provide workplace coaching 32 hours)

Worship Music Stream Subjects

SUBJECT

FOCUS AREAS

Vocals Focus

Subjects in the Vocal focus include: Theology of Christian Worship, Performance Ensemble, Worship Leadership, plus 2 elective subjects of your choice.

Musicians Focus

Subjects in the Musicians focus include: Theology of Christian Worship, Performance Ensemble, Worship Leadership, plus 2 elective subjects of your choice.

Songwriters Focus

Subjects in the Songwriting focus include: Theology of Christian Worship, Songwriting for Church, Worship Leadership, plus 2 elective subjects of your choice.

SEMESTER 1 SUBJECTS

Theology of Christian Worship

Building on Principles of Worship, students will continue to build their understanding and conviction of worship as it intersects with a number of key themes:

- Worship: Its Theology and Practice – A deeper look into the understanding of Biblical worship outworked through a life of worship, including worship music expression in the 21st century.
- Worship and Creation – A brief excursion into the created world around us and how it joins with us in God-glorifying worship.
- Worship and Spiritual Growth – Worship is integral to the Christian life and for the Church. We will explore worship and its role in the development of spiritual formation of the individual and for the faith community.

(MINWMU501 Develop an informed Christian worship practice | 40 hours)

Music Development Workshops

In the Worship Music stream, students have the opportunity to choose to focus their training as a musician in a band, a vocalist, or a songwriter, through weekly practical workshops.

Worship Music Stream

In the Worship Music Stream, you will really start to develop as a creative and musical leader. You will continue to grow in your chosen discipline whilst thinking more deeply theologically and artistically, translating all of this into dynamic worship ministry.

SUBJECT

Performance Ensemble

Building on foundations from Certificate IV, musicians and vocalists will develop advanced skills to maintain technical control and deliver a confident 'performance' standard. Training focuses on the following areas:

- How to develop controlled technical performance skills
- Methods to care for your voice or instrument
- Choosing appropriate warm-up exercises
- Developing of practice techniques

Students will also develop the skills required for planning performances or services in cooperation with audio production and technical teams. (CUAMPF605 Develop advanced vocal technique or CUAMPF505 Develop technical skills and expand repertoire | 40 hours)

Songwriting for Church

As songwriters, students you will engage in a workshop experience that will train them in the writing style and process of Hillsong Church and its various songwriting expressions. Studies include congregational writing, theology and poetry within lyrics, collaborative writing, coordinating song culture with senior leadership, and building a songwriting culture in your local church. (CUAMCP402 Develop techniques for composing music | 40 hours)

SEMESTER 2 SUBJECTS

Worship Leadership

This subject will train students in biblical and practical foundations for leading a worship team. Through lectures, tutorials and workshops, we aim to deepen understanding of the following practical skills; running efficient rehearsals, how to prepare a worship set, how to spiritually lead a worship team and congregation, and how to respond and lead in the unexpected. We will build on the principles delivered in Certificate IV to develop more advanced concepts of congregational worship, the role of leadership, spirituality and worship, and the skills and knowledge needed to build a rich, Christ-centred worship culture across a range of contemporary church service settings. (MINWMU502 Lead worship in a Christian ministry setting | 40 hours)

Leading a Worship Ensemble

This subject partners with Worship Leadership in developing practical skills for those wanting to lead teams of vocalists and musicians. We will practically look at developing skills for how to lead worship in various contexts and scenarios in a contemporary worship settings. Some skills developed are as follows: leading the ensemble as a music director or vocal director, planning and leading structured rehearsals, responding to new scenarios and leading through uncertainty, and a range of other responsibilities that come with leading a worship team. (CUAMPF507 Provide musical leadership in performance | 32 hours)

Worship Elective Subjects

Students will have the choice of one of the following electives per semester:

Semester 1: Music Arrangement and Producing or Preaching

Semester 2: Church and Music or Marriage and Family

Online Students will have the choice of one of the following electives per semester:

Semester 1: Music Arrangement and Producing or Preaching

Semester 2: Church and Music or Preaching

No Performance Ensemble or Leading a Worship Ensemble for Online students
Online worship students are all required to take Songwriting for Church.

SEMESTER 2 SUBJECTS

Music Arrangement and Producing

This subject is designed to grow the student's understanding of music arrangement, engage in researching ideas for arrangement, and workshop and arrange original pieces. Students will also receive technical training for the recording and editing of live instruments and vocals, as well as MIDI based arranging and producing. (CUAMCP401 Develop techniques for arranging music | 48 hours)

Special note: Students taking this subject are strongly encouraged to provide their own computers, recording programs (Garage Band minimum), audio interface, and instruments.

Church and Music

In this subject, students can expect to learn about the influences and impact of doctrine, socio-politics, social relevance, leadership structures, and cultural forces on the development of music in the church from ancient to modern times, including a historical study of Hillsong Church music. By understanding these influences both within and outside the church, they can more effectively pre-empt, navigate, and respond to the impact of these influences with higher leadership capacity. (CUAMLT502 Apply concepts of music and society to professional practice | 40 hours)

Please note: If you would like private or individual music lessons in addition to your course at Hillsong College there are options available.

DIPLOMA OF MINISTRY

Film & TV Stream

The Film & TV stream subjects continue to deepen your skills in cinematography, editing, and screenwriting, while introducing you to focused subjects on lighting, managing screen production, and sound design for film. These are combined with Leadership and Biblical core subjects, to give you a solid foundation to start creating your own films that communicate impacting messages. You will also have the opportunity to lead a variety of Film and Television projects within our College and Hillsong Church TV teams, including the creation of content for the Hillsong Channel.

DIPLOMA OF MINISTRY

Film & TV Stream Subjects

SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
Managing Screen Productions	In this subject students will develop the skills and knowledge needed to plan and coordinate film resources across a range of screen and media activities such as: gaining the proper permissions and licenses, such as buying stock footage, copyrights, and gaining approval for location shoots in public places. Working with a wide variety of cast and film crews, students will learn what it takes to deliver content at a high standard, on time and to budget. (CUAPPM406 Coordinate film and media production services and resources 32 hours)
Sound Design for Film 1 and 2	In Sound Design for Film, students will gain an understanding of what it takes to create a dynamic sound base that drives and complements a story. They will be trained to record quality dialogue and sound effects on location using various microphones and external recording methods. Students will be taught how to capture sound that will enhance the visual elements of a story, while gaining the skills necessary to perform basic post-production audio corrections needed in mastering audio tracks for film. (CUASOU503 Develop sound designs 40 hours)
Lighting for Film 1 and 2	Being intentional in painting film with light will take a project from the average everyday to a beautiful film masterpiece. Here students will learn techniques for lighting a film including how to create moods, looks, and colours all while working with different industry grade lighting equipment to create the cinematic look that drives a story. The course is taught through understanding lighting rules and principles while participating in hands-on class exercises and working on a project as the lighting designer. (CUALGT402 Implement lighting design 40 hours)
Digital Editing 3 and 4	Building upon the editing skills learned in the Certificate IV year, this subject will develop technical understanding of Adobe Premiere Pro and After Effects. Students will learn how to edit meaningful stories that captivate and challenge your audience. Classes will focus on working with sophisticated creative content in a fast-paced environment with exposure to a variety of projects. Students will also have the opportunity to function as the supervising editor for a variety of projects within our College Creative teams. (CUAPOS501 Edit complex screen productions 48 hours)
Cinematography 3 and 4	Deepen your understanding of visual storytelling by exploring more principles of cinematography including: camera movement, digital cinema cameras, lighting, shot composition, and how to create that cinematic look. Weekly workshops will continue to develop your skills on a variety of cameras and film equipment. These skills will equip students to contribute to the film industry in a range of roles such as Assistant Camera, Camera Operator or Director of Photography. (CUACAM401 Shoot a wide range of screen content 48 hours)
Screenwriting 3	Students will continue to work with the principles and concepts created in their Certificate IV year of screenwriting while looking deeper at story structure and the elements that contribute to a story. They will learn to write in a range of different styles as well as how to work with project briefs or concepts developed by others. Adding to this, skills will continue to be shaped as students develop their own scripts and gather feedback on their work in a collaborative writing environment. (CUAWRT402 Write extended stories 32 hours)

SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
Studio Practice 1	This subject introduces students to the environment of a professional recording studio, as well as its place in a modern church context. It will focus on the process of tracking and recording audio. Students will study signal flow, the recording process, microphone and recording techniques across a range of instruments and situations, as well as studio etiquette and session management among other information. Location recording will be looked at, along with recording dialogue for video applications. (CUASOU405 Record sound 80 hours)
Studio Practice 2	Studio 2 accompanies Studio 1, but will focus on the editing and mixing environment. Students will investigate various digital editing techniques and requirements, along with learning to mix recordings both 'in the box' and in a larger format studio environment. (CUASOU409 Mix recorded music with CUASOU407 Edit sound 64 hours)
Advanced Live Audio Systems	The modern live audio environment presents an array of signal types, and as such requires a good understanding of these for efficient management and organisation. This subject will investigate the setup and management of wireless microphone systems, along with addressing digital audio signal types and distribution, with a specific focus on live audio and church applications. (CUASOU404 Manage wireless audio operations with CUASOU403 Manage Audio Systems Control Networks 40 hours)
Introduction to Production Management	This subject introduces the student to the process of Production Management, in particular focussing on the demands and requirements inside the church environment. Elements including technical needs, budgeting, venue inspection, client liaison, documentation and communication are all addressed. Interaction between technical departments will also be investigated, along with case studies of specific events in church life. (CUAPPM402 Coordinate production operations 56 hours)

The Production course continues to develop your technical and aural skills, but this time with more emphasis on the studio and audio recording environments. This will allow you to develop both technical and critical listening skills, as well as address audio editing, recording, and mixing skills. Session management and workflow is also addressed, along with working with musicians and other creatives.

Advanced Diploma of Ministry

10671NAT CRICOS 096713F

Our Advanced Diploma in Ministry course is specifically designed to help transition students into a position of leadership and influence in their chosen occupation. The course gives you the opportunity to gain real-life ministry training while furthering your academic development.

Graduates will leave equipped with the skills they need for a wide range of key leadership and senior ministry or management roles. This accredited course is part of our Vocational Education program that trains you with the skills needed for marketplace careers in the same field as your stream's ministry specialisation.

Advanced Diploma of Ministry Course Structure

Entry Requirement: Completion of Diploma of Ministry or equivalent

Core Subjects: 270 hours

Elective Subjects: 450 hours

Advanced Diploma: 720 hours

Duration: 12 Months

Innovative Learning Environment

The study program takes place in a variety of contexts including practicum, lecture-style classes, group-work, presentation, self-directed learning activities, workshop, tutorials and work-based training. Assessment methods include written assignments such as reports and journals, oral and written presentations, observation, tests, and workplace training.

Practicum

You will train alongside a pastor or key leader at Hillsong Church or other approved ministry or church during the week. The College will work with you to tailor a practicum that will further develop your leadership and ministry potential, whilst positioning you to make a significant contribution to the life of Hillsong Church or your local Sydney or Phoenix church. Students intending to commence their Advanced Diploma year of Ministry Training must apply for their practicum during their Diploma year.

Classes

Your classes will further develop your leadership, ministry and creative skills while challenging you to think deeply about your faith and philosophy of ministry for the 21st century. In the Advanced Diploma, all subjects are electives, so you get to choose the mix of subjects that align with your passions and will best develop your ministry potential. The subjects are drawn from a range of disciplines, such as bible, theology, leadership, management, pastoral ministry, and creative leadership.

If you are from a local church in the Sydney Metropolitan or Phoenix areas, you can choose to do your Practicum in your home church.

All Online Campus student's Practicum serving will be outworked in their local home church.

Application for Practicum placement in the Advanced Diploma year must happen prior to commencing the course so that Practicum placement can be arranged.

Advanced Diploma of Ministry

Core Subjects

CORE SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
Advanced Practicum 1 and 2	These are the subjects behind your Practicum. Students work alongside an experienced church leader and are immersed in the week-to-week running of a church department or ministry, learning what it really takes to make ministry work. Students will be involved in the development of new ministry initiatives, gaining experience managing ministry and exerting influence in a ministry team environment. This development is guided by key members of the College faculty through regular coaching sessions. (MINLED603 Demonstrate the integration of judgement, skills, ministry ethics & practice in a Christian vocation, MINLED602 Demonstrate influence within a Christian ministry 240 hours)

ELECTIVE SUBJECT	OVERVIEW
Elective Subjects	You will choose eight elective subjects in your third year that are most relevant to managerial, pastoral, creative, or other technical leadership areas.

MANAGERIAL LEADERSHIP
Leading a Church Department	As a senior leader one of your key roles is to implement vision and organisational ethos to your church or ministry department, communicating it powerfully to your team, outworking it with other departments and directing its effective implementation. This subject will equip students with the practical skills needed to manage human resources within a department, take them through the financial planning process and help you develop the strategic management skills and disciplines needed to steer a department. (MINLED610 Manage a church department 56 hours)
Managing Leaders	At higher levels of leadership, much of a leader's time will be spent developing and managing other leaders. This subject explores the principles, practices, and disciplines of those who excel in leading and managing teams of leaders. Content and skills will be drawn from both the ministry and business worlds. (MINLED604 Manage and develop ministry leaders 59 hours)

PASTORAL LEADERSHIP
Apologetics	With the recent rise in pluralism and militant atheism, Christian leaders are often required to give a reasoned defence of their faith. This subject equips students with the background knowledge and skills required to present the case for Jesus Christ in a post-modern world. Students will develop an understanding of and a response to the key arguments used to challenge the Christian Gospel. (MINTHY602 Defend the Christian Faith 58 hours)
Corinthian Correspondence	Paul's two letters to the Corinthians provide an ideal opportunity for in-depth study of a New Testament book in its historical, cultural and social setting. This subject will examine the background to the early church in the first-century Greco-Roman world, and further develop NT exegetical skills. Students will also explore more deeply the process of applying the NT text into a modern day church setting. (MINBIB601 Interpret and analyse biblical literature 55 hours)
Prophetic Literature	The prophetic books of the Old Testament give a unique insight into God's relationship with ancient Israel. Bringing together Israelite history, Jewish poetry, and Old Testament theology, this subject will help students grapple with the message of these profound and challenging books. Whilst developing OT exegetical skills, students will also learn to examine the process of applying the OT prophetic message to the modern world. (MINTHY603 Examine and apply biblical theology to a ministry setting 59 hours)
Social Justice and The Church	Social justice is increasingly becoming a subject of concern in contemporary societies. This subject will explore aspects of social justice practices and theory and apply them to evaluate the contributions of the Church to that arena. Students will be equipped to develop strategies of implementation in a ministry setting. (MINPST602 Apply social justice to a ministry setting 60 hours)
Contemporary Theologies	Theology is a continually evolving discipline, with new trends and ideas regularly gaining the limelight in Christian teaching, writing or ministry. This subject equips students for the challenging task of engaging with and analysing key, modern-day theological concepts and their impact on church life and on popular Christian thinking. (MINTHY601 Analyse contemporary theologies to a ministry setting 60 hours)
Training Skills	One of the things leaders regularly do in ministry is train people. It is one of the key ways they multiply their influence and expand ministry. This subject provides the practical skills needed to plan and deliver group-based learning. It will also explore how to assess people's acquisition of skills and how to evaluate training effectiveness. (MINPST604 Plan and deliver ministry training in a local church environment 56 hours)
Platform Ministry	This subject practically equips the student to lead a service and deliver some of the key elements, such as communion, baptisms, altar calls, and offering messages. Students will also learn to conduct weddings, baby dedications, and funerals. (MINLED608 Lead a Christian service or ceremony 59 hours)

Preaching

Preaching is one of the most effective tools for communicating the gospel, teaching biblical truth, and impacting lives. In this subject, students will be introduced to the theology, communication theory, and skills needed to construct and deliver powerful, life-changing sermons. They will also have opportunity to practice and be coached in their new preaching skills.

Please note: This subject is being made available exclusively to students who have completed a Diploma of Ministry in Worship Music, Production, or Film & TV. (MINPST503 Deliver a sermon | 59 hours)

Marriage and Family

This subject helps students develop a biblical basis for marriage and family, identifying relevant current issues encountered in various forms of relationships. Students will be equipped with the theology and ministry skills needed to help people in a Christian community build their marriages and families. It will also equip students personally, to build their own life-giving and exemplary marriage and family, while navigating the challenges of life and ministry.

Please note: This subject is being made available exclusively to students who have completed a Diploma of Ministry in Worship Music, Production, or Film & TV. (MINPST502 Interpret and apply the theology of marriage and family | 60 hours)

CREATIVE LEADERSHIP

Creative Director

This subject equips students who are committed to producing high-level creative presentations for their local church services and events. They will be equipped with the understanding and skills needed to produce creative elements of an event (story-telling, concept development, music, video, dance). Students will also develop an understanding of the necessary technical elements (sound, lighting). This subject will also develop the management skills needed to oversee such events and presentations. (CUAPPR602 Collaborate in professional creative projects | 56 hours)

Advanced Songwriting

In this subject students will further extend what they have learned in their Certificate IV and Diploma year songwriting subjects. Students will investigate and experiment with various writing components and music materials for the betterment of their writing, giving them the ability to fine-tune, rewrite, and evaluate songs to a professional industry standard. (CUAMCP602 Extend techniques for composing music | 44 hours)

Pre-requisite: you must have already completed the Songwriting focus in either Cert IV or Diploma.

Creative Pastor

This subject is for anyone passionate about learning to lead and develop artistic people and teams. In this class, we specifically focus on discovering the personhood challenges artistic people on Creative teams face and how they shape them as people and ministers. We will also explore how artistic people tend to face unique issues in life, what these issues are and how one can become a leader who releases them to outwork their creativity, whilst living a strong, consistent life for longevity in ministry. (MINWMU602 Lead and pastor creative artists in a ministry setting | 60 hours)

Undergraduate

CRICOS NSW 00958A | AVAILABLE ON CAMPUS AND ONLINE

Hillsong College offers undergraduate study in biblical studies, ministry and theology. This degree allows individuals to grow in knowledge and acquire the necessary tools to lead churches and ministries. This is achieved through a depth of theological, biblical, ministry, and leadership studies, while being strategically connected with Hillsong College and the Hillsong Church community.

It is the community and life of Hillsong Church that sets this degree program apart from others like it. The placement of Hillsong College within Hillsong Church gives students the opportunity to constantly apply and outwork what they are learning in the classroom in a church setting. Students don't simply receive "head knowledge" that is detached from daily ministry life, but are instead equipped in greater depth with biblical, theological, and leadership teaching to take and apply into church life.

Units of Study

The following list includes all subjects (units) of study currently available across our undergraduate awards.

UNIT OF STUDY	OVERVIEW
ANL151 New Testament Greek 1	While they can be very good, New Testament translations can only do so much. Inevitably, translation teams have to make interpretive decisions regarding how to bring out the meaning of the Biblical text, and this can sometimes reflect theological bias or simply miss some of the richness and subtlety present in the original languages. Here at Hillsong College, we will help to equip you with the necessary tools to negotiate the sometimes difficult terrain of understanding the NT text on its own terms; not just to be able to bring out simple English (or other) transliterations, but to interact with and grasp the meaning of the original texts. Using innovative linguistic research will help you to begin to grasp hold of this extraordinary language, in particular its grammar, so that you can go deeper into the word of God; not just for yourself, but also for all those you minister to. Course code: ANL151 Credit points: 10
ANL251 New Testament Greek 2	New Testament Greek 2 builds on Greek 1 to give you a solid foundation for your knowledge of Biblical Greek. This unit rounds out a full year of Greek study and will equip you with a good working knowledge of Greek grammar, and it is from this basis that you can launch into more advanced syntactical and exegetical study of the New Testament texts. Greek 2, in a way, puts 'wheels' on your study of Greek, as we come to see more fully the beauty of the Greek verbal system and its significance for understanding the original texts. Course code: ANL251 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: ANL151 — New Greek Testament 1
BIB102 Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament)	Understanding the Bible is foundational for Christian life. Whilst many of us have read the Bible, there are many sections that are seemingly foreign and strange, or that we simply just avoid. This unit aims to introduce you to Israel's Scriptures, the Old Testament, and its "Big-Picture" message as we grapple with its different genres, themes and contexts. We will explore the historical and thematic developments of the Old Testament books, assisting you to understand how the different books and message all fit together. Further, we will discuss how the message of Old Testament Scriptures – set in a very different context to ours – can be applied today. Course code: BIB102 Credit points: 10
BIB103 Introduction to the New Testament	Understanding the Bible is foundational for Christian life. Whilst many of us have read the Bible, there are many sections that are seemingly foreign and strange, or that we simply just avoid. This unit aims to introduce you to the New Testament and its "Big-Picture" message as we grapple with its different genres, themes and contexts. The primary focus will be on the message of each book and its authors within their particular historical-cultural setting, with some attention being given to its contribution to the theology of the NT as a whole. We will explore the historical and thematic developments of the New Testament books overall, assisting you to understand how the different books and message all fit together. Further, we will discuss how the message of New Testament Scriptures – set in a very different context to ours – can be applied today. Course code: BIB103 Credit points: 10
BIB210 The Pentateuch	At the beginning of the bible, we find the Pentateuch or Torah. Genesis to Deuteronomy are essential for understanding our faith today. For ancient Israel it described their origins, creation stories, ancestors, exodus from Egypt, covenant with Yahweh, the journey to the Promised Land and their worship of Yahweh. Similarly for us as Christians, our salvation-story is framed by the people, images and stories found in the Pentateuch. In this unit we will explore these foundational themes of creation, faith, salvation, covenant, worship, land and journeying present in the Pentateuch. We will particularly discover the wonder of the Pentateuch's literary structure and techniques as well as the world it constructs. We will also survey how the Pentateuch sets the stage for what follows in the rest of the biblical canon. Course code: BIB210 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament

BIB212 Minor Prophets	Towards the end of the Old Testament are a collection of twelve usually overlooked prophetic books, known as the Minor Prophets. This unit will blow the dust from the Minor Prophets, to get a glimpse into the ancient history of Israel, the prophets and their God-given message. We will specifically study the Minor Prophets as a collage, to highlight the collections' literary nature, themes, settings and rhetoric, as well as its portrayal of Yahweh. Further, you will be encouraged to harness your own 'prophetic imagination' so that you can be a messenger of God to your own generation. Course code: BIB212 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
BIB251 Johannines	The Gospel and Letters of John are dearly loved by many Christians today. Rich in theology and symbolism, these texts draw heavily on the Jewish tradition fulfilled in Jesus the Messiah. This unit will equip you to interpret and apply these extraordinary texts, as well as help you to see the ways in which the story of Jesus fulfils the testimony of Israel. Course code: BIB251 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
BIB254 The World of the New Testament	Why would Paul, A Hebrew speaking Jew, writing to Latin speaking Romans, use Greek? Why was the liberating message of the crucified Messiah considered "foolish?" What did the first Christians look like to outsiders? Did Paul really endorse slavery and male headship? So many aspects and difficult issues of the NT are overlooked or misunderstood in the 21st century for the very simple reason that we don't understand the world of the original text. This course takes a look at the culture, customs, and values of the first century, especially as they relate to the NT. It asks the question "What was that world like?" and "How does the NT challenge it?" It shows how radical this minority group – the Christians – were in the face of the Roman Empire and invites the student to be challenged in their own convictions and values as 21st century Christians. Course code: BIB254 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
BIB351 Luke-Acts	Luke-Acts is a two-volume work which tracks the movement from the ministry of Jesus through to the early church (and beyond!). Obviously this text is therefore of great significance in the New Testament, and has been used by Pentecostals for over a century in our quest to recover a truly biblical faith. This unit examines the narrative of Luke-Acts in a way that holds together the historical and theological foci, and seeks to equip you with a solid reading strategy for approaching these remarkable texts. Course code: BIB351 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
BIB352 Romans and Galatians	Have you ever wondered why Christians don't follow the full Mosaic Law? Have you ever asked what sets Paul's thought into a storyline of history that informs his pastoral and theological reflections. If you are interested in understanding the core Gospel message and its relevance in our contemporary culture then this unit will scratch where you itch! Course code: BIB352 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
BIB355 Revelation	The Revelation (or the Apocalypse as it is often called, from its opening word in Greek) is by common consent one of the most difficult of all the books of the Christian Bible. Nevertheless, attention to its historical context, social and religious milieu, and literary genre will bring considerable light to bear on its form, content, and function, as well as its relevance for us today and in light of contemporary theological perspectives. Course code: BIB355 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament

BIB356 Studying the Synoptic Gospels	The unit examines the Synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark and Luke) and their (inter)relationship. Whilst their portrayal of Jesus is an obvious outcome, this subject will also explore some unique facets of each of the synoptics, such as the Messianic 'secret' of Mark, Matthew's particular theology, as well as key Lukan passages. A key outcome will be the significance of the synoptics for Christian discipleship and ministry. Course code: BIB356 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
BIB359 New Testament Field Study	This unit provides students with a first-hand introduction to the relevant cultural, geographical, historical, and archaeological issues for the New Testament. This unit features an on-site field study program in the location of modern day Turkey and Greece – formative for the biblical text – including hikes, Biblical walks, visits to archaeological sites and traditional churches and museums that cast light on Paul's missionary journeys and epistles, assisting us in exegetical tasks. This course may be offered in the following formats: Requires a Field Study component of approximately 10 days (75 hours), which includes orientation and preparation meetings. This is in addition to the approx. 50 hours out of class time for reading, research, writing, and ancillary activities associated with completion of assigned tasks. Course code: BIB359 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB102 — Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament) OR BIB103 — Introduction to the New Testament
EXP201 Professional Practice	Itching to connect the realm of the classroom with some real-life experience? Professional Practice is designed with just this aim in mind. Students will have the chance to engage academically with issues pertaining to their major specialisation plus experience a hands-on workplace placement. Working with an experienced supervisory mentor (no family members or close friends!), students will complete a 100 hour placement over the course of semester, with a variety of formats to choose from. For instance, do you have a heart for local church ministry? You could complete 8 hours a week in a ministry of Hillsong Church, working with a key leader or oversight. Or perhaps a block placement involved in one of the Hillsong Church's annual Conferences would be the kick start needed... The sky is the limit! Course code: EXP201 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: At least 40 credit points
EXP301 Advanced Professional Practice	Advanced Professional Practice builds on Professional Practice. It provides a chance for students to continue the challenging but rewarding combination of academic reflection upon contemporary ministerial issues and hands-on experience whilst increasing your confidence and expertise. Like Professional Practice, you will work with an experienced supervisory mentor (no family members or close friends!), complete a 100 hour placement over the course of semester, with a variety of formats to choose from. Course code: EXP301 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: EXP201 — Professional Practice
HIS101 History of Christianity	This subject is an introduction to the rich and inspiring heritage of Christian tradition, from the time of Christ to the current era, examined within social and cultural contexts. It explores early church formation, the challenges of the Medieval era, the repercussions of the Renaissance and the reasons for the Reformation. Major revivals are analysed as well as the effectiveness of modern missionary movements. The struggles and strengths of the 20th century are also revealed, as well as various issues facing the 21st century church. By exploring such historical shifts in spirituality and society, students will gain understanding of both contingency and continuity in Christian history, in order to deepen their understanding of gospel ministry today. Course code: HIS101 Credit points: 10
HIS302 Early and Medieval Christian History	This subject examines the context, origins and development of early Christianity and its impact on the surrounding communities from the Apostolic Age to the Continental Reformation. It explores how the rapid expansion of the church brought various social, cultural and theological challenges and examines how these were addressed. The contextualisation of medieval Christian thoughts and actions are discussed, as well as their formative influences in contemporary contexts. An analysis of major reform movements will also reveal how they have shaped the history of Christianity. Course code: HIS302 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: 40 Credit Points OR HIS101 — History of Christianity

UNIT OF STUDYOVERVIEW*MIN102
Christian Spirituality

Ever wondered if there were other ways to express faith, apart from lifting your hands during worship? Would you like to deepen the spirituality of your local Christian community, but find yourself hesitating, uncertain of the appropriate boundaries? Students with these questions and more will find themselves challenged as they partake in this foundational unit, designed specifically to introduce charismatic and Pentecostal Christians to the broader history of Christian spiritual approaches. In doing so, students will explore spirituality in the scriptures, and have a chance to connect with their heritage and participate in a broad range of spiritual exercises practiced by the wider body of Christ throughout history.
Course code: MIN102 | Credit points: 10

MIN202
Communicating the Christian Faith

The ‘E’ word: Evangelism – is a concept that can equally incite ‘excitement’ and ‘excruciation’. In this unit, extroverts and introverts alike will find themselves engaging with the historical, biblical and theological roots for communicating the Gospel and gaining the skills (along with the empowering of the Spirit) to communicate effectively. In doing so, students will explore ways to engage with a world where the acceptance of the Christian story is counter-cultural, as well as ways to connect the good news of the kingdom to contemporary social concerns.
Course code: MIN202 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

MIN203
Preaching

Have you ever wished that you could bottle the persuasiveness and power of your favourite preacher in order to supercharge your own sermons and see your congregation transformed? When it comes to sermons, the bridge between the first century text and twenty-first century context can often seem longer than 2000-plus years. If you want to discover what turns effective preaching into life-changing preaching, and bring revelation to postmodern people who struggle with the Christian story, then look no further. Get ready to be equipped with the rhetorical tools in this unit to craft a message so powerful that it will be impossible for your audience to leave unchanged.
Course code: MIN203 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: At least 40 credit points plus MIN101 — Introduction to Pastoral Ministry

RES101
Introduction to Academic Writing and Research

New to university studies & it all seems too hard? Worried about writing essay papers? Or where to begin researching? Or do you feel confident in writing, but want to learn the skills of evaluating the masses of information we are bombarded with? This unit is for you! It will give you the tools to succeed in your undergraduate academic studies. It will examine how you learn, plus challenge you to think deeper, wider and more creatively. It will also encourage you in how to critically evaluate and reflect on information, plus develop your skills in how to put it all together in an essay paper or oral presentation.
Course code: RES101 | Credit points: 10

SOC201
Theology of Social Justice

This unit provides a biblical theology of holistic mission and Gospel proclamation that takes seriously the responsibility of the church to address issues of justice and poverty. It argues scripturally and theologically that the good news of the Kingdom of God has vital implications for social and cultural values and practice. Too often in our western society we see political ideology claiming these values. As Christians we need to reclaim them as expressions of our faith, and as reflections of God’s Kingdom on earth.
Course code: SOC201 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

THE101
Christian Worldview

Do you have questions about God, humanity and the world that you have been unable to answer? Do you sometimes wonder whether Christian beliefs about things like the Trinity and the divinity of Jesus make any sense? This unit provides you with the opportunity to explore those beliefs that are foundational to Christianity. It argues that what we believe about God (our theology) has a practical impact upon our life and ethics and, therefore, provides an overview of Christian faith, and reflects on the ways in which this faith informs our everyday life and calling. The topics addressed range from the doctrine of God, creation and sin, to discussion on the person and work of Christ, and the nature of the coming Kingdom of God and His Church.
Course code: THE101 | Credit points: 10

THE201
Christian Ethics

In an era of moral relativism, Christians should stand out as moral beacons. However, it is increasingly the case that the Church is seen not as a community of love but, rather, as a legalistic, dogmatic, mean-spirited and hypocritical institution. This unit helps students to think through how they go about making ethical decisions. It argues against legalism, and sets up a theological method of approaching ethics that prioritises grace and the power of the Spirit. It also facilitates guided reflection on personal morality and societal ethical issues.
Course code: THE201 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

UNIT OF STUDYOVERVIEW*THE202
Christ and Salvation

Is it an oxymoron (contradiction) to claim that Jesus is both human and divine? How do we make sense of Jesus’ death on the cross? Is the resurrection something that can be believed in this modern scientific era? These are the sort of questions addressed in this unit, which provides students with the opportunity to explore central elements of Christian faith at a deeper level of theological reflection. It explores what has traditionally been labelled the “person” and “work” of Jesus, i.e. “who is he?” and “what did he do for us?”. In answering these questions, students are encouraged to reflect on both the ancient traditions of the bible and early church and, further, to discuss the significance of Jesus Christ for contemporary Christian life and thought especially in view of modern Christological reflections.
Course code: THE202 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

THE203
Trinity and Creation

Do you think that the doctrine of the Trinity is just too hard to understand, even though you know that this doctrine is foundational to Christian faith? This unit provides students with an opportunity to reflect deeply on the doctrine of the Trinity – both its historical development and its relevance for the contemporary church. It also explores God’s providential work in the creation and addresses controversial issues such as the creation / evolution debate.
Course code: THE203 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

THE204
Pneumatology

How do you explain Pentecostal distinctives? How well do you understand, and how clearly can you explain, historical developments in pneumatology, such as the filioque controversy? In today’s diverse ecclesial context, how can you engage in ecumenical dialogue locally and globally, and relate pneumatology to ecumenism? Within this unit you will explore the historical developments of pneumatology, including the filioque controversy. You will learn how to explain the development of Pentecostal pneumatology and appraise key distinctives, including the theology of baptism in the Spirit, as well as analyse contemporary theologies of the spirit. You will develop an ability to demonstrate implications drawn from the relationship between pneumatology and ecclesiology, and discriminate between alternate conceptions of church. Beyond this, you will build understanding and skill to be able to relate pneumatology to ecumenism and engage in ecumenical dialogue.
Course code: THE204 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

THE310
Apologetics

Is it possible to make sense of Christian faith in the 21st century? This course explores traditional “proofs” of the existence of God and analyses their contemporary relevance. It considers the relationship between theology and science, and provides students with tools to defend central elements of the Gospel. Students are also challenged to put theory into practice by engaging in discussions about faith with non-Christians.
Course code: THE310 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: At least 80 credit points, including THE101 — Christian Worldview

THE311
Ecclesiology

Contemporary churches are often focused on “doing church”, but this unit reflects critically on the nature and mission of the church. It establishes biblical and theological foundations for understanding the church, and then reflects theologically upon historical and contemporary developments. These include discussion of Church leadership structures and contemporary trends, such as the so-called emerging church and multi-centred mega-churches. It also considers the relationship between Church Mission and evangelistic and social work activities, as well as engaging with the contemporary ecumenical movement.
Course code: THE311 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: THE101 — Christian Worldview

THE320
Theology and Psychology

Who am I? What is the soul? How should Christian faith interact with the psychological sciences? This unit considers the theological concepts of grace, sin and freedom as found within traditional Christian theologies of the human person. It also seeks to interact with the discipline of psychology and contemporary insights into the study of the mind. The unit should be of particular interest for all people interested in providing pastoral advice and counselling from a Christian perspective.
Course code: THE320 | Credit points: 10
Prerequisites: At least 80 credit points, including THE101 — Christian Worldview

Units of Study

The following list includes all subjects (units) of study currently available across our postgraduate awards.

UNIT OF STUDY	OVERVIEW
BIB402 Introduction to Israel's Scriptures (Old Testament)	The aim of this subject is to familiarise students with Israel's Scriptures as a coherent narrative that is of crucial importance to Christians. While this subject includes a discussion of every book in Israel's Scriptures, it goes beyond this to look at how the character of God is communicated and traces significant themes throughout. We will also look at how to read Hebrew narrative and poetry, and at the influence of cultural background on interpretation. Course code: BIB402 Credit points: 10
BIB403 Introduction to the New Testament	This unit aims to introduce you to the New Testament and its "Big-picture" message as we grapple with its different genres, themes and contexts. The primary focus will be on the message of each book and its authors within their particular historical-cultural setting, with some attention being given to its contribution to the theology of the NT as a whole. We will explore the historical and thematic developments of the New Testament books overall, assisting you to understand how the different books and message all fit together. Further, we will discuss how the message of the New Testament Scriptures – set in a very different context to ours – can be applied today. Course code: BIB403 Credit points: 10
BIB502 Interpreting Scripture today	Many people think that the way they understand the Bible is the way anyone would: its meaning is always unambiguous to us all, isn't it? But in reality we cannot avoid interpreting the bible as we read it. So how can we effectively read and interpret the Bible? This is the key question of this unit. To explore this question we will consider a whole range of interpretive issues, including the different genres of biblical literature and the process(es) by which we come to apply the biblical message to our current context. This subject will therefore provide you with the necessary foundation and tools with which to interpret and apply the message of the Bible more thoughtfully. Course code: BIB502 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB520 The Pentateuch	At the beginning of the Bible, we find the Pentateuch or Torah. Genesis to Deuteronomy are essential for understanding our faith today. UNIT OF STUDY	OVERVIEW
CCM401 Introduction to Cross Cultural Ministry	In this unit students have an opportunity to critically explore global mission perspectives and cross cultural ministry within local church and mission organisation contexts. Students analyse the significance of this understanding for local churches and their community and global responsibility, in consideration of biblical, historical, cultural and strategic dimensions. Course code: CCM401 Credit points: 10
COM504 Preaching and Public Communication	Have you ever wished that you could bottle the persuasiveness and power of your favourite preacher in order to supercharge your own sermons and see your congregation transformed? When it comes to sermons, the bridge between the first century text and twenty-first century context can often seem longer than 2000-plus years. If you want to discover what turns effective preaching into life-changing preaching, and bring revelation to postmodern people who struggle with the Christian story, then look no further. Get ready to be equipped with the rhetorical tools in this unit to craft a message so powerful that it will be impossible for your audience to leave unchanged. Course code: COM504 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: At least 40 credit points PLUS RES401 — Postgraduate Research and Writing or equivalent
EXP501 Professional Practice	Working with an experienced supervisory mentor (no family members or close friends!), students will complete a 100 hour placement over the course of semester, with a variety of formats to choose from. For instance, do you have a heart for local church ministry? You could complete 8 hours a week in a ministry of Hillsong Church, working with a key leader or oversight. Or perhaps a block placement involved in one of the Hillsong Church's annual Conferences would be the kick start needed... The sky is the limit! Course code: EXP501 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: At least 40 credit points
HIS401 History of Christianity	This subject is an introduction to the rich and inspiring heritage of Christian tradition, from the time of Christ to the current era, examined within social and cultural contexts. It explores early church formation, the challenges of the Medieval era, the repercussions of the Renaissance and the reasons for the Reformation. Major revivals are analysed as well as the effectiveness of modern missionary movements. The struggles and strengths of the 20th century are also revealed, as well as various issues facing the 21st century church. By exploring such historical shifts in spirituality and society, students will gain understanding of both contingency and continuity in Christian history, in order to deepen their understanding of gospel ministry today. Course code: HIS401 Credit points: 10
HIS502 Early and Medieval History	This subject examines the context, origins and development of early Christianity and its impact on the surrounding communities from the Apostolic Age to the Continental Reformation. It explores how the rapid expansion of the church brought various social, cultural and theological challenges and examines how these were addressed. The contextualisation of medieval Christian thoughts and actions are discussed, as well as their formative influences in contemporary contexts. An analysis of major reform movements will also reveal how they have shaped the history of Christianity. Course code: HIS502 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: 40 credit points OR HIS401 — History of Christianity
MIN402 Christian Spirituality	Ever wondered if there were other ways to express faith, apart from lifting your hands during worship? Would you like to deepen the spirituality of your local Christian community, but find yourself hesitating, uncertain of the appropriate boundaries? Students with these questions and more will find themselves challenged as they partake in this foundational unit, designed specifically to introduce charismatic and Pentecostal Christians to the broader history of Christian spiritual approaches. In doing so, students will explore spirituality in the scriptures, and have a chance to connect with their heritage and participate in a broad range of spiritual exercises practiced by the wider body of Christ throughout history. Course code: MIN402 Credit points: 10

MIN510 Communicating the Christian Faith	The 'E' word: Evangelism – is a concept that can equally incite 'excitement' and 'excruciation'. In this unit, extroverts and introverts alike will find themselves engaging with the historical, biblical and theological roots for communicating the Gospel and gaining the skills (along with the empowering of the Spirit) to communicate effectively. In doing so, students will explore ways to engage with a world where the acceptance of the Christian story is counter-cultural, as well as ways to connect the good news of the kingdom to contemporary social concerns. Course code: MIN510 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: At least 40 credit points OR MIN401 — Foundations of Pastoral Ministry
RES401 Postgraduate Research and Writing	This unit gives you the tools of how to succeed in your postgraduate academic studies. You will develop an ability to analyse, synthesise and critically engage with academic literature and build an understanding of the research process, including different methodologies and their underlying assumptions. Plus, in addition to building an understanding of academic writing as a genre, you will have opportunity to develop your own academic writing skills. Course code: RES401 Credit points: 10
RES500 Independent Guided Research	This research unit is undertaken with a supervisor and provides you with an opportunity to pursue a research question in your area of interest. You will demonstrate knowledge of methodology relevant to your research question, enabling you to identify the appropriate research method to address your question. You will develop your ability to identify and develop a research question in a chosen area of interest, and to execute research method to complete your research, including a significant literature review. To secure your supervisor for this unit, we recommend beginning discussions with the Masters Program Coordinator to assist you in allocation of a supervisor before enrolling in this unit. The earlier you begin this process, the better you will be set up for a great research project! Course code: RES500 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: RES401 or equivalent and completion of at least 3 subjects in major area and at least 1 elective.
RES501 Research Project	This core unit is the capstone of your postgraduate study towards completion of your Master of Arts. It provides an opportunity for you to pursue a guided research project in your chosen area of interest within your specialisation, under the guidance of a supervisor. You will demonstrate knowledge of methodology and exhibit a critically reflective understanding of fundamental techniques and described methodological process. With this knowledge and understanding, you will be able to demonstrate an advanced ability in formulating a research question and outlining an appropriate research plan for data collection. Using this question and research plan, you will then work to produce a clearly expressed, well-structured and well-argued research essay, which appropriately engages the peer-reviewed literature in the relevant area of interest. Successful completion of this research project gives you an opportunity to develop your postgraduate research skills as you investigate a more significant and complex research question than otherwise possible in a coursework award. Completion of this research project can also help you gain insight into whether you might consider future research studies, for example, a Master of Theology. To secure your supervisor for your research project, we recommend beginning discussions with the Masters Program Coordinator to assist you in allocation of a supervisor before enrolling in this unit. The earlier you begin this process, the better you will be set up for a great research project! Course code: RES501 Credit points: 20 Prerequisites: RES401 Postgraduate Research and Writing or equivalent and completion of at least 3 subjects in specialisation area and at least 1 elective. As well as a GPA 2.8 or higher.
THE401 Christian Worldview	Do you have questions about God, humanity and the world that you have been unable to answer? Do you sometimes wonder whether Christian beliefs about things like the Trinity and the divinity of Jesus make any sense? This unit provides you with the opportunity to explore those beliefs that are foundational to Christianity. It argues that what we believe about God (our theology) has a practical impact upon our life and ethics and, therefore, provides an overview of Christian faith, and reflects on the ways in which this faith informs our everyday life and calling. The topics addressed range from the doctrine of God, creation and sin, to discussion on the person and work of Christ, and the nature of the coming Kingdom of God and His Church. Course code: THE401 Credit points: 10

THE501 Christology	Is it an oxymoron (contradiction) to claim that Jesus is both human and divine? How do we make sense of Jesus' death on the cross? Is the resurrection something that can be believed in this modern scientific era? These are the sort of questions addressed in this unit, which provides students with the opportunity to explore central elements of Christian faith at a deeper level of theological reflection. It explores what has traditionally been labelled the "person" and "work" of Jesus, i.e. "who is he?" and "what did he do for us?". In answering these questions, students are encouraged to reflect on both the ancient traditions of the bible and early church and, further, to discuss the significance of Jesus Christ for contemporary Christian life and thought especially in view of modern Christological reflections. Course code: THE501 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview
THE502 Trinity and Creation	Do you think that the doctrine of the Trinity is just too hard to understand, even though you know that this doctrine is foundational to Christian faith? This unit provides students with an opportunity to reflect deeply on the doctrine of the Trinity – both its historical development and its relevance for the contemporary church. It also explores God's providential work in the creation and addresses controversial issues such as the creation / evolution debate. Course code: THE502 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview
THE503 Spirit and Church	How do you explain Pentecostal distinctives? How well do you understand, and how clearly can you explain, historical developments in pneumatology, such as the filioque controversy? In today's diverse ecclesial context, how can you engage in ecumenical dialogue locally and globally, and relate pneumatology to ecumenism? Within this unit you will explore the historical developments of pneumatology, including the filioque controversy. You will learn how to explain the development of Pentecostal pneumatology and appraise key distinctives, including the theology of baptism in the Spirit, as well as analyse contemporary theologies of the spirit. You will develop an ability to demonstrate implications drawn from the relationship between pneumatology and ecclesiology, and discriminate between alternate conceptions of church. Beyond this, you will build understanding and skill to be able to relate pneumatology to ecumenism and engage in ecumenical dialogue. Course code: THE503 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview
THE504 Christian Ethics	In an era of moral relativism, Christians should stand out as moral beacons. However, it is increasingly the case that the Church is seen not as a community of love but, rather, as a legalistic, dogmatic, mean-spirited and hypocritical institution. This unit helps students to think through how they go about making ethical decisions. It argues against legalism, and sets up a theological method of approaching ethics that prioritises grace and the power of the Spirit. It also facilitates guided reflection on personal morality and societal ethical issues. Course code: THE504 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview
THE512 Apologetics	Is it possible to make sense of Christian faith in the 21st century? This course explores traditional "proofs" of the existence of God and analyses their contemporary relevance. It considers the relationship between theology and science, and provides students with tools to defend central elements of the Gospel. Students are also challenged to put theory into practice by engaging in discussions about faith with non-Christians. Course code: THE512 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview
THE520 The Church and Social Justice	This unit provides a biblical theology of holistic mission and Gospel proclamation that takes seriously the responsibility of the church to address issues of justice and poverty. It argues scripturally and theologically that the good news of the Kingdom of God has vital implications for social and cultural values and practice. Too often in our western society we see political ideology claiming these values. As Christians we need to reclaim them as expressions of our faith, and as reflections of God's Kingdom on earth. Course code: THE520 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview

POSTGRADUATE

Master of Theology

The Master of Theology (MTh) provides a unique opportunity to train in research skills relevant to a wide range of careers, suitable for scholarship, leadership and management. You will engage in cutting edge research in the area of your discipline specialisation. The course includes critical exploration of contemporary issues, recent developments in the literature, and methodological approaches. You will build advanced knowledge by developing skills in your specialised field of study; either Theology or Biblical Studies. You will be equipped to communicate complex ideas and propose solutions to a wide audience, as well as design and implement a 20,000 word research project with the guidance of expert supervisors. Our postgraduate courses will equip you in critical thinking and spiritual formation with a view to leading and influencing not only in the 21st Century church context, but in every sphere of life.

Master of Theology (MTh)

Duration

Full-Time: 1.5 years

Part-Time: 3-7 years

Entry Requirements

For entry into our Master of Theology, completion of a ministry or theology undergraduate or postgraduate degree, or equivalent.

Please see hillsong.com/college/entry-requirements for details on admission into this award.

Course Structure

Our Master of Theology consists of 120 credit points, comprising core research methods units, units taken within your area of specialisation, elective subjects, and a research project in your area of discipline.

The MTh can be completed in 1.5 years of full-time study or 3 years of part-time study (maximum candidacy 7 years).

Length of Program

Full Time:

1.5 years (2 subjects = 40 credit points per semester)

Part Time:

Up to 3-7 years (1 subject = 20 credit points per semester)

Campuses

Hills Campus – Face to Face delivery

Delivery Modes

- Intensive – Face to Face delivery – between 4-6 days of lectures over 1-2 weeks, plus a weekly 1 hour tutorial
- Extensive – Face to Face delivery – typically 4 days of lectures across the semester, plus a weekly 1 hour tutorial
- Guided Research – work under direction of expert supervisor in the field, typically 10 hours a week across the semester

FEE-HELP Loan

The Master of Theology qualifies for FEE-HELP Loan Funding. Please consult studyassist.gov.au for eligibility details.

AUSTUDY / ABSTUDY / Youth Allowance

Austudy, Abstudy, and Youth Allowance are available for this course. To check your eligibility and to find out more information, please visit the Study Assist website.

Master of Theology (MTh)

Subject Information

Our Master of Theology consists of 120 credit points, comprising core research methods units, units taken within your area of specialisation, elective subjects, and a research project in your area of discipline.

Core Units

RES601 Research Methods – 20 credit points

Biblical Studies

BIB601 Methods in Biblical Studies – 20 credit points

BIB602 Seminar Presentation of Research in Biblical Studies – 20 credit points

Theology

THE601 Theologians: Method and Meaning – 20 credit points

THE602 Seminar Presentation of Theological Research – 20 credit points

Elective Units

20 credit points, at 500 level or above, to be taken from a discipline outside your specialisation

Research Project

Core research project (20,000 words) in your area of discipline

RES602 Research Project – 40 credit points

Units of Study

The following list includes all subjects (units) of study currently available across our postgraduate awards.

UNIT OF STUDY	OVERVIEW
ANL502 New Testament Greek 2	New Testament Greek 2 builds on from Greek 1 to give you a solid foundation for your knowledge of Biblical Greek. This unit rounds out a full year of Greek study and will equip you with a good working knowledge of Greek grammar, and it is from this basis that you can launch into more advanced syntactical and exegetical study of the New Testament texts. Greek 2, in a way, puts 'wheels' on your study of Greek, as we come to see more fully the beauty of the Greek verbal system and its significance for understanding the original texts. Course code: ANL502 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: ANL402 — New Greek Testament 1
BIB502 Interpreting Scripture today	Many people think that the way they understand the Bible is the way anyone would: its meaning is always unambiguous to us all, isn't it? But in reality we cannot avoid interpreting the bible as we read it. So how can we effectively read and interpret the Bible? This is the key question of this unit. To explore this question we will consider a whole range of interpretive issues, including the different genres of biblical literature and the process(es) by which we come to apply the biblical message to our current context. This subject will therefore provide you with the necessary foundation and tools with which to interpret and apply the message of the Bible more thoughtfully. Course code: BIB502 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB520 The Pentateuch	At the beginning of the Bible, we find the Pentateuch or Torah. Genesis to Deuteronomy are essential for understanding our faith today. For ancient Israel it described their origins, creation stories, ancestors, exodus from Egypt, covenant with Yahweh, the journey to the Promised Land and their worship of Yahweh. Similarly for us as Christians, our salvation story is framed by the people, images and stories found in the Pentateuch. In this unit we will explore these foundational themes of creation, faith, salvation, covenant, worship, land and journeying present in the Pentateuch. We will particularly discover the wonder of the Pentateuch's literary structure and techniques as well as the world it constructs. It will also survey how the Pentateuch sets the stage for what follows in the rest of the biblical canon. Course code: BIB520 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB522 Minor Prophets	Towards the end of the Old Testament are a collection of twelve usually overlooked prophetic books, known as the Minor Prophets. This unit will blow the dust from the Minor Prophets, to get a glimpse into the ancient history of Israel, the prophets and their God-given message. We will specifically study the Minor Prophets as a collage, to highlight the collections' literary nature, themes, settings and rhetoric, as well as its portrayal of Yahweh. Further, you will be encouraged to harness your own 'prophetic imagination' so that you can be a messenger of God to your own generation. Course code: BIB522 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB550 Reading the Synoptic Gospels	The unit examines the Synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Mark and Luke) and their (inter)relationship. Whilst their portrayal of Jesus is an obvious outcome, this subject will also explore some unique facets of each of the synoptics, such as the Messianic 'secret' of Mark, Matthew's particular theology, as well as key Lukan passages. A key outcome will be the significance of the synoptics for Christian discipleship and ministry. Course code: BIB550 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB553 Johannines	The Gospel and Letters of John are dearly loved by many Christians today. Rich in theology and symbolism, these texts draw heavily on the Jewish tradition fulfilled in Jesus the Messiah. This unit will equip you to interpret and apply these extraordinary texts, as well as help you to see the ways in which the story of Jesus fulfils the testimony of Israel. Course code: BIB553 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible

BIB554 The World of the New Testament	Why would Paul, A Hebrew speaking Jew, writing to Latin speaking Romans, use Greek? Why was the liberating message of the crucified Messiah considered “foolish?” What did the first Christians look like to outsiders? Did Paul really endorse slavery and male headship? So many aspects and difficult issues of the NT are overlooked or misunderstood in the 21st century for the very simple reason that we don’t understand the world of the original text. This course takes a look at the culture, customs, and values of the first century, especially as they relate to the NT. It asks the question “What was that world like?” and “How does the NT challenge it?” It shows how radical this minority group – the Christians – were in the face of the Roman Empire and invites the student to be challenged in their own convictions and values as 21st century Christians. Course code: BIB553 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible OR 40 credit points
BIB561 Luke-Acts	Luke-Acts is a two-volume work which tracks the movement from the ministry of Jesus through to the early church (and beyond!). Obviously this text is therefore of great significance in the New Testament, and has been used by Pentecostals for over a century in our quest to recover a truly biblical faith. This unit examines the narrative of Luke-Acts in a way that holds together the historical and theological foci, and seeks to equip you with a solid reading strategy for approaching these remarkable texts. Course code: BIB561 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB562 Romans and Galatians	Have you ever wondered why Christians don’t follow the full Mosaic Law? Have you ever asked what sets Christianity apart from Judaism? Paul’s letters to the Romans and Galatians answer these questions and more, whilst in many ways these letters reveal most fully the heart of his theology. This unit will also synthesise Paul’s thought into a storyline of history that informs his pastoral and theological reflections. If you are interested in understanding the core Gospel message and its relevance in our contemporary culture then this unit will scratch where you itch! Course code: BIB562 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible OR 40 credit points
BIB565 The Book of Revelation	The Revelation (or the Apocalypse as it is often called, from its opening word in Greek) is by common consent one of the most difficult of all the books of the Christian Bible. Nevertheless, attention to its historical context, social and religious milieu, and literary genre will bring considerable light to bear on its form, content, and function, as well as its relevance for us today and in light of contemporary theological perspectives. Course code: BIB565 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB590 New Testament Field Study	This unit provides students with a first-hand introduction to the relevant cultural, geographical, historical, and archaeological issues for the New Testament. This unit features an on-site field study program in the location of modern day Turkey and Greece – formative for the biblical text – including hikes, Biblical walks, visits to archaeological sites and traditional churches and museums that cast light on Paul’s missionary journeys and epistles, assisting us in exegetical tasks. This course may be offered in the following formats: Requires a Field Study component of approximately 10 days (75 hours), which includes orientation and preparation meetings. This is in addition to the approx. 50 hours out of class time for reading, research, writing, and ancillary activities associated with completion of assigned tasks. Course code: BIB590 Credit points: 10 Prerequisites: BIB401 — Introduction to the Bible
BIB601 Methods in Biblical Studies	This unit is taken as part of your development of an area of specialisation in Biblical Studies. You will build a detailed understanding of the historical development of the theory and practice of methods in biblical studies, including historical-critical methods, literary approaches, ideological criticisms, and social-scientific theories. You will critically evaluate the validity, usefulness and consequences of different approaches to biblical studies, demonstrate advanced proficiency in using methods of biblical studies and advanced skills in biblical exegesis. Course code: BIB601 Credit points: 20 Prerequisites: RES601 — Research Methods

BIB602 Seminar Presentation of Research in Biblical Studies	This unit is taken as part of your development of an area of specialisation in Biblical Studies. In this unit, you will propose a topic of research within biblical studies and formulate a research proposal. You will demonstrate advanced research skills, critical engagement with alternate perspectives and the ability to make a solid argument; utilise an appropriate method to develop a coherent argument on selected issues or passage; and present the results of research to peers and respond critically and generously to the research of others. Course code: BIB602 Credit points: 20 Prerequisites: BIB601 — Methods in Biblical Studies
COM504 Preaching and Public Communication	Have you ever wished that you could bottle the persuasiveness and power of your favourite preacher in order to supercharge your own sermons and see your congregation transformed? When it comes to sermons, the bridge between the first century text and twenty-first century context can often seem longer than 2000-plus years. If you want to discover what turns effective preaching into life-changing preaching, and bring revelation to postmodern people who struggle with the Christian story, then look no further. UNIT OF STUDY

RES601 Research Methods

This core research methods unit is taken at the commencement of your Master of Theology. Within this unit you will demonstrate an in-depth understanding of quantitative, qualitative and mixed methodologies approaches to research and demonstrate a broad understanding of basic statistical techniques in data interpretation. You will demonstrate the ability to formulate a research question and outline an appropriate research plan for data collection; articulate a research question and apply the knowledge and skills developed within the selected research field to develop appropriate solutions. Further, you will also effectively construct and communicate a research project which will inform and enhance the selected research field.

Course code: RES601 | Credit points: 20

RES602 Research Project

This core unit is the capstone of your development of an area of specialisation and advanced research skills within your Master of Theology. It provides an opportunity for you to pursue an in-depth independent research project, in consultation with an approved supervisor. The research project should be in the area of specialisation (either Theology or Biblical Studies).

You will identify and develop an approved research question to be investigated in a subject area of suitable complexity and represented by a major stream in the relevant degree. You will describe a suitably sophisticated method for resolving the research question, construct a critical literature review for the area of research in interaction with described methodology and high level, peer-reviewed scholarship, then show an advanced competence in descriptive, critical and analytic skills with respect to the topic of your research. This culminates in you producing a piece of work of the defined length of 20,000 words which is clearly expressed, well-structured and well-argued relative to the appropriate topic, and which appropriately engages the peer-reviewed literature in the area.

THE501 Christology

Is it an oxymoron (contradiction) to claim that Jesus is both human and divine? How do we make sense of Jesus' death on the cross? Is the resurrection something that can be believed in this modern scientific era? These are the sort of questions addressed in this unit, which provides students with the opportunity to explore central elements of Christian faith at a deeper level of theological reflection. It explores what has traditionally been labelled the "person" and "work" of Jesus, i.e. "who is he?" and "what did he do for us?". In answering these questions, students are encouraged to reflect on both the ancient traditions of the bible and early church and, further, to discuss the significance of Jesus Christ for contemporary Christian life and thought especially in view of modern Christological reflections.

THE502 Trinity and Creation

Do you think that the doctrine of the Trinity is just too hard to understand, even though you know that this doctrine is foundational to Christian faith? This unit provides students with an opportunity to reflect deeply on the doctrine of the Trinity – both its historical development and its relevance for the contemporary church. It also explores God's providential work in the creation and addresses controversial issues such as the creation / evolution debate.

THE504 Christian Ethics

In an era of moral relativism, Christians should stand out as moral beacons. However, it is increasingly the case that the Church is seen not as a community of love but, rather, as a legalistic, dogmatic, mean-spirited and hypocritical institution. This unit helps students to think through how they go about making ethical decisions. It argues against legalism, and sets up a theological method of approaching ethics that prioritises grace and the power of the Spirit. It also facilitates guided reflection on personal morality and societal ethical issues.

THE510 Theology and Popular Culture

Conservative Christian communities have long been suspicious of popular culture. It is increasingly apparent, however, that if the church is going to be relevant in the modern world, it needs to find ways to engage with the mediums of popular culture; film, television, music and the internet. Building on Christian Worldview studies, this unit teaches students tools for interpreting pop culture texts, and encourages critical analysis. It focuses particularly on film, but provides students the option of exploring other mediums. Teaching strategies include listening to podcast lectures and gathering together to watch and discuss films. The unit will feel a little like a series of "nights-out" although beneath all the fun is some serious reflection on the culture within which we live and minister.

THE512 Apologetics

Is it possible to make sense of Christian faith in the 21st century? This course explores traditional "proofs" of the existence of God and analyses their contemporary relevance. It considers the relationship between theology and science, and provides students with tools to defend central elements of the Gospel. Students are also challenged to put theory into practice by engaging in discussions about faith with non-Christians.

Prerequisites: THE401 — Christian Worldview

THE520 The Church and Social Justice

This unit provides a biblical theology of holistic mission and Gospel proclamation that takes seriously the responsibility of the church to address issues of justice and poverty. It argues scripturally and theologically that the good news of the Kingdom of God has vital implications for social and cultural values and practice. Too often in our western society we see political ideology claiming these values. As Christians we need to reclaim them as expressions of our faith, and as reflections of God's Kingdom on earth.

THE601 Theologians: Method and Meaning

This unit is taken as part of your development of an area of specialisation in Theology. You will develop an advanced ability to explain the contribution of selected theologians central to Christian tradition (pre-20th Century) to contemporary thought and practice; compare, contrast and evaluate the theological insights of selected authors; and summarise the theological method of key 20th/21st Century theologians and explain the way this frames their theology; and present research conclusions to peers and engage in constructive and critical dialogue.

Prerequisites: RES601 — Research Methods

THE602 Seminar Presentation of Theological Research

This unit is taken as part of your development of an area of specialisation in Theology. In this unit, you will explain the epistemological perspectives of contemporary western culture and discriminate between alternate theological responses. You will propose a topic of research on a contemporary theological issue and formulate a research proposal; demonstrate advanced research skills, critical engagement with alternate perspectives and the ability to make a solid argument; utilise an appropriate theological method to develop a coherent argument on selected theological issues; and present the results of research to peers and respond critically and generously to the research of others.

If you have completed previous study in Australia, USA, or internationally, you may be able to transfer credit into our courses, allowing you to invest more time in the practical dimensions of your course. To qualify for credit transfer your studies will need to be:

- With an accredited or recognised institution providing high quality training and education that is recognised by regulators and/or other colleges.
- In a field equivalent or related to Hillsong College's courses, streams or subjects.
- Delivered at an appropriate post-high school level.
- Completed within the last 10 years.

FAQ

How diverse is the student body?

One of the greatest benefits of studying at Hillsong College is our international student body, helping students to form friendships and lasting connections with students from across the globe. Even while studying at our USA Campus, students will be connected with our global staff and student body. Together, our alumni represent more than 70 nations.

Does Hillsong College offer scholarships or financial aid to students?

At this time, Hillsong College does not provide scholarships or financial aid. Students provide for their fees in various ways – including saving before their course commences, working while they study, being sponsored by their home church or fundraising support within their community.

If you are unable to pay full-time semester fees, we encourage you to consider our flexible part-time options.

How much will my course cost and do I need to pay it all upfront?

Course fees vary between programs and awards. To find more information about fees specific to your preferred program, visit hillsong.com/college/tuition.

Tuition is due before each semester. Some courses are eligible for a Deferred Payment Plan, available from a student's second semester onwards. This allows students to pay their tuition in instalments.

Are Hillsong College courses accredited?

Our vocational courses are accredited with Australian Skills Quality Authority (ASQA), the Australian Government agency charged with quality and regulation of the vocational education and training sector in Australia.

Our online or on-campus undergraduate and postgraduate degrees are obtained and accredited through our partnership with Alphacrucis College located in Sydney Australia.

Our online Masterclasses are not accredited; rather, they function as short classes to equip and empower you wherever you are.

Are Hillsong College credits transferrable to other universities?

Our accredited vocational courses are designed to flow seamlessly into undergraduate and graduate programs at Hillsong College, and with the universities that we partner with globally. You can learn more through here: hillsong.com/college/partnerships

Does Hillsong College provide student housing?

Yes! If you apply for student housing through Hillsong College, we will source local accommodation on your behalf, near the campus of your choice. HC accommodation is shared living, in which you're able to interact and live with other students. Generally, these properties are houses or apartments within the local area surrounding our campuses. Please note that these properties are not guaranteed to be furnished. Depending on the size of the property, you may live with 4 – 7 other students. Alternatively, you are welcome to source your own local accommodation.

To learn more about our accommodation and cost estimates, visit: hillsong.com/college/accommodation.

How many hours per week will I spend studying?

If you are a Vocational student, please allow at least 3-4 hours per subject.
If you are a Higher Ed student, please allow at least 6-8 hours per subject.

What student support is available for Hillsong College students?

Hillsong College is dedicated to the care and wellbeing of our student body. Right at the start of their journey, we welcome them into our community through orientations, information sessions and opportunities to get to know our HC team.

Throughout their studies, students have access to emotional and practical support through our Pastoral Care Team and can access academic advice and assistance through our learning support system.

What are the benefits of hiring Hillsong College graduates?

Our alumni can be found influencing nations, churches, families and industries across the globe. Hillsong College exists to raise students to their fullest potential, equip them with industry skills and knowledge, empower them to outwork their studies and release them to lead lives of impact and influence. The hands-on experience that is embedded in our curriculum prepares students for a life of ministry within the church or any career pathway they choose to pursue. Through practical training, students learn leadership, key decision making, team management, problem solving, communication, pastoral leadership and creative skills that have proven to be integral across a number of industries.

Who can I talk to if I have more questions?
